
THE F.A.C.T. SHEET

July 1999

A monthly publication of the Fandom Association of Central Texas, Inc.

Editorial Remarks

Hello again, or maybe for the first time! Regular FACT Sheet editor John Gibbons will be busy co-chairing ArmadilloCon 21 for a few months, so he asked me to fill in. Longtime FACT members may recognize my name as a previous editor of this newsletter. Newer members likely will know me best for my work with the Reading Group. I'll try my best to keep up to John's high standards.

Unlike John, I don't plan to write detailed hard science editorials. My scientific interests are primarily about topics related to my career field, 3D computer graphics. I doubt that an article about voxels vs. pixel-based rendering or about the relative merits of OpenGL and Direct3D would have much widespread appeal here. I'll fill the extra space with news and other goodies.

Meeting Minutes

MINUTES FOR REGULAR MEETING
 BOARD OF DIRECTORS
 FANDOM ASSOCIATION OF CENTRAL TEXAS, INC.
 JUNE 13, 1999

The Board of Directors (the "Board") of the Fandom Association of Central Texas, Inc. ("FACT") convened in a regular meeting at the home of FACT members A.T. Campbell, III and Lori Wolf, at 3801 Hawkshead Drive, Austin, Texas on the 13th day of June, 1999 and the following duly constituted officers and members of the Board were in attendance, thus constituting a quorum:

Lori Wolf	Chairman and Director
A.T. Campbell, III	Director
Earl Cooley, III	Director
Fred Duarte, Jr.	Director
Karen Meschke	President
Shane Cook	Treasurer
Daniel Tolliver	Secretary (arriving late "gasp")

Also present was FACT member Matthew Duarte as well as Murphy, the Noble Dog.

The Minutes of the May 1999 meeting were approved after numerous typographical anomalies were noted and corrected. Captain Jack and purple sun block were discussed.

I. Reports of the Officers of FACT.

a. Chairman's Report. Chairman Wolf reported that the boat outing was a success and that FACT should consider doing it again.

b. President's Report. President Meschke reported that the boat outing was a success. She deferred the remainder of her report until the NSS report after suggesting an October social event at Brooks Griffith's parents' place.

[FACT Registrar Carrie Richerson arrived with Debbie Hodgkinson and Jeep, who was being kept on a short leash after having spilt a cold drink and stepped on the tape recorder at the June meeting.]

c. Vice President's Report. Vice President Taylor was not in attendance. The possibility of fans beginning to believe he is just a fannish legend was presented for discussion.

d. Secretary's Report. The Secretary thanked Director Campbell for preparing the first half (the part without typos) of the May minutes and President Meschke for allowing herself to be drafted to start the June minutes.

e. Treasurer's Report. Mr. Cook reported that he had e-mailed the financials to Mr. Tolliver for inclusion with the minutes (see Schedule A) and that he was in the process of preparing FACT's IRS forms. He requested any financial records from the past five (5) years to aid in this endeavor.

f. Registrar's Report. Ms. Richerson reported that the database is up to date. And that Renee Babcock's name had made it into the June FACT Sheet. [Mr. Tolliver handed her his FACT membership renewal check.]

g. Social Director's Report. Social Director Babcock was not in attendance, however, the flood of kudos (not the candy bars) regarding the boat outing could not be contained. In addition to the statements about purple sunscreen, many kind words were heaped on Ms. Babcock for suggesting and following through on the idea. A good time was reported to have been had by all attendees, although the lack of a ladder was mentioned as a problem. FACT members were compared to leaping salmon, beached whales and svelte frat boys, although in the interests of brevity whether the comparisons were favorable or not will be avoided.

h. MIS Report. Bob Quinlan was not in attendance and, therefore, made no report. Director Cooley indicated that the 21st is World Fandom Day on the Net.

h. Historian's Report. Director Reedy was not in attendance and, therefore, made no report. Director Reedy was reported to be in Corpus Christi having fun.

II. Committee Reports.

a. ArmadilloCon 21. The ArmadilloCon 21 chairs were not in attendance; however, the upcoming scheduled meeting of said committee on June 19 was also discussed. The June 19 meeting is another mandatory meeting as the mass mailing is being assembled. It is expected to get underway between 1 and 2 p.m. Other business will also be discussed. Lillian Butler was reported to be working on the ArmadilloCon flyer.

b. World Fantasy. Director Duarte reported that the World Fantasy flyers would be included in the mass mailing and that he would be nailing down a date for a trip down to Corpus Christi to make final determinations on the location of the dealers room and art show. He also reported that the Web page is up.

c. ISDC/NSS Convention. President Meschke reported that she and Director Duarte and their son, Matthew (see above) had attended the convention and that there were lots of fans in attendance and that FACT had sold approximately $50.00 worth of books through an arrangement with Adventures in Crime and Space Bookstore. She also reported that Matthew enjoyed getting to sleep with Sam the Iguana and the boa constrictor. She also reported that it had hailed on them as they were leaving Houston. [Ming the Merciless did not appear to be the cause however.]

d. Office Committee. Director Reedy was praised for showing up early and working late to clean out the office space. Director Cooley thanked him for returning his longhorn horns which had accidentally been stored at the office. Special thanks were accorded to Director Reedy and former Director Hodgkinson for their assistance. It was decided to cancel the phone at the office since the office has ceased to exist for all intents and purposes.

e. Publications. Mr. John Gibbons once more managed to publish the FACT Sheet prior to deadline. Kudos to John.

f. Reading Group. Director Campbell reported that the pool party had been enjoyable and that the Reading Group still has books to read. The Reading Group report contained in the June FACT Sheet is hereby appended to these minutes.

g. Nominations Committee. In hiatus pending election coverage.

h. Bylaws Committee. The Bylaws committee has yet to meet. They will be discussing the issues via e-mail. If any FACT member would like to make any comments, they are requested to send them to Directors Cooley and Reedy and to Secretary Tolliver. Should the need arise for a physical meeting of the Bylaws committee it will occur as part of or immediately following a regularly scheduled Board meeting.

III. Old Business. Chairman Wolf reported that work was progressing on the grant proposal to ALAMO for new art flats.

IV. New Business.

a. Autographing. The prospects for bringing in an author for an autographing were discussed. Chairman Wolf and Director Duarte were authorized to engage in discussions with Willie Siros of Adventures in Crime and Space Bookstore regarding same.

b. Literacy Austin. Director Cooley reported that Literacy Austin's annual book sale would be held at Northcross Mall on June 19-20, 1999.

There being no further business to come before the Board, the June 13, 1999 Meeting of the Board of Directors of FACT was adjourned at 2:38 p.m.

Reading Group Report

by A. T. Campbell, III

June 1: Forever Peace by Joe Haldeman

Eight people attended the discussion of Forever Peace. This novel, which won both the Hugo and Nebula Awards, combines elements from several literary traditions: hard SF, cyberpunk, and war. While this book has a similar title to Haldeman's earlier book The Forever War, the two books are not related. The story, set in the near future, involves a group of American soldiers who operate remote-controlled military robots. The main character, a soldier who works as a physicist when he's not jacked into a robot, is involved with an experiment to build a supercollider in orbit about Jupiter. These story elements converge in a fast-paced thriller.

We found this to be a book full of good ideas. The military robots (called "soldierboys", "sailerboys", and "flyboys") were a fascinating premise. A side effect of the mind-controlled robots is that the platoons of robot operators can read each other's minds while jacked in. It was also interesting that the humans controlling the robots were only in the military part time, and spent the rest of their time doing unrelated work. The virtual reality, physics, and nanotechnology aspects of the story were well developed.

There were some problems. The writing alternates between first person and a pedantic third person, which many of us found awkward and distracting. The story features a romantic relationship between a graduate student and his advisor, which one person found about as likely as "between a woman and her gynecologist". Much of the story takes place in Texas, and several local facts are wrong in the book: UT is in Houston, the Oilers are still in Houston, etc.

Our individual appreciation of this book was strongly related to what we thought of The Forever War, which all of us had read. Those who'd loved the intensity and antiwar focus of the earlier book tended to be disappointed by Forever Peace. Those who'd found The Forever War "good, but not my type of book" tended to like Forever Peace's stronger elements of hard SF. Willie Siros had the most unique perspective. Since Forever Peace is the bestselling hardback in the history of his store, he could only find praise for it.

June 15: Moonfall by Jack McDevitt

The discussion of Moonfall drew eight participants. This is a near-future SF disaster novel where scientists discover a comet on a collision course with Earth's moon. Earth's leaders have a little over a week to figure out how to save the people of the heavily populated moonbase and in an orbiting space station. Then the Earth needs to be saved from the effects of the tidal changes and large debris that result from the collision.

We found this to be a well-written, fast paced thriller. McDevitt established tension and suspense well, and he used the time deadline effectively. The characters were well drawn and interesting. We particularly liked the US Vice President, who is visiting the moon when the trouble starts and thus finds himself in the middle of all the action. We liked how McDevitt portrayed realistic powerful executives and politicians, as well as some of the regular earthbound folks dealing with the catastrophe. The book promotes a strong pro-space message, and we all found that agreeable.

There were only a few minor problems. Since this book came out about the same time as two "big rock hits Earth" movies, the story seemed less special than it might have at another time. Some people also wished that this book featured more extrapolation in its future society. We were amused that despite all the problems that befall Earth in this book, Georgia (McDevitt's home state) comes through with no damage.

Overall we found this to be one of the most exciting and satisfying books we'd read in a while. Some people liked it so much that they'd already read it twice. This was the fourth McDevitt novel we'd discussed in the Reading Group, making him our most-discussed author.
